

FUSIONIA QUARTET

Fusionia String Quartet is a Cyprus based ensemble established in 2019. It consists of Marios Ioannou – violin Savvas Lagou – violin, Sorin Alexandru Horlea – viola and Robert Grod – violoncello.

As the name implies it has as its main goal to create connections between different musical genres and styles in mixed and various concerts, as well as recordings and performances of all sorts, including experimental and pedagogical enterprises where the general public can be attracted to listening and be involved in a wider range of music, with classical repertoire remaining the main attraction.

The ensemble has already performed in the most prestigious venues in Cyprus and has participated in important cultural events including the Kypria International Festival. It has also collaborated with important artistic personalities.

Besides, Fusionia Quartet has already accomplished their own original arrangements of music like the “Cypriot” and “Ipirotiko” suites, with many such other projects in line to follow.